A father and son take us on a journey from farms to cities, where vehicles from buses to fire trucks are working every day, through the seasons, from morning until a final good night.

- Ideal good-night book for young truck lovers.
- Delightful read aloud; bold, engaging illustrations
- Highly regarded singer/songwriter author.
- Community helpers, seasons.

Freight trucks carry clocks and cakes,
books and boots and garden rakes.
Through the mountains, up and down,
there they go from town to town.
